Theme:

We are pleased to announce the fifth international workshop on Computational Intelligence & Applications, which is organized by SMC Hiroshima Chapter and will be held in Hiroshima University. Presentations and materials must be in English. The theme of the workshop is:

Fundamentals of Computational Methods and System Sciences

Specialized tutorial sessions will be organized along with paper presentations.

Scope:

The topics of interest include, but are not limited to:

Applied Computational Intelligence	Intelligent Distributed Systems
Reasoning & Learning	Expert Systems/Decision Support Systems
Intelligent Control Systems	Intelligent Environmental Systems
Intelligent Safety Systems	Intelligent Energy Systems
Intelligent Robotic Systems	Human Factors
Applied Artificial Intelligence	System of Systems
Computer Vision	Human-Computer/Machine Interactions
Sensing Engineering	Geographical Information Systems & Applications

Call for General Session Papers:

Prospective authors are invited to submit their entry and full paper(s) electronically to Organization Committee: ml-ieee-smc-hiroshima-ws@hiroshima-u.ac.jp The entry will include following information: 1) Title of the paper, 2) Author(s)' name, 3) Affiliation(s), 4) E-mail address, 5) Phone/FAX number, 6) Keyword(s), and 7) Session (General Session / Student Session) The papers must not exceed six pages. Papers will be reviewed by the Program Committee on technical merit and content.

Call for Student Session Papers:

The aim of the Student Session (SS) is to give an opportunity to students at any level (Bachelor, Master, and PhD students) to present and discuss their work in progress with a possibility to get feedback from senior researchers. Papers co-authored by non-students will be accepted. SS papers should be submitted with the same instruction as General Session (GS) papers.

The first author and the speaker of the paper presented at Student Session should be a student.

All accepted papers, presented at the international workshop by one of the author(s) will be published in the Proceedings of IWCIA.
